

I am a professional storyboard artist with many years experience in my hometown of London, England, and in the United States, now based in Nashville, Tennessee (conveniently located midway between New York and Los Angeles).

I storyboard feature films, television shows and pilots, commercials, industrials and music videos. I have served as an adjust instructor at the Watkins Film School and continue to teach storyboarding at the Nashville Film Institute. I am used to working on independent productions where tight budgets and fast turnarounds are a concern.

In addition to my creative background, I am fully conversant with the business aspect of the industry, having worked for nearly two decades with the Gannett Corporation as an award-winning sales and marketing executive in New York, Delaware, California and Tennessee.

Storyboard credits have included movies such as "Country Strong" (Gwyneth Paltrow, Tim McGraw) and "High Roller" (Michael Imperioli); TV pilots such as "Outlaw Country" for FX Network, "Nashville" for Lions Gate/ABC and "America's Dumbest Criminals"; commercials for the NFL, Coca Cola, Seven-Up, Goody's and CMT; and music videos for Taylor Swift, Garth Brooks, Elton John and many more.

To read a more detailed resume and client list, and to see samples of my storyboard work, please visit my Web site: <http://www.storyboardmike.com> To discuss a project, please call me at 615-207-8787.