

Blue Sage Mercantile has been a historical clothier since 2000. As Living Historians we take great pride in our attention to detail and accuracy in constructing period correct clothing. We work primarily with 19th century clothing, but are well versed in 18th century as well.

While we have done theatrical work, we now work on only historically correct clothing and techniques. We are willing to work with your production crews to provide you the most accurate and perfectly fitted clothing for your production.

We have contacts with a historically correct saddle and tack maker, and wrangler if needed.

We only work with historically correct textiles and patterns. We personally make all of our clothing, millinery and accoutrements, and do not subcontract work out so that we ensure the quality and maintain the integrity of our work.
